THE HOT LIST ITALY'S WINE ISLANDS

Italian islands are so hot right now – literally and figuratively. Basking in the sunny Mediterranean you'll find Sardinia and Sicily: a pair of islands with stunning landscapes, rich histories and thriving wine scenes. Their wines are trending worldwide (thanks, White Lotus) as droves of new fans discover them and fall in love. Here's your chance to see why.

A peek at the brilliant blue Mediterranean Sea in Levanzo, Sicily.

HISTORY

Archaeological evidence suggests that winemaking on the islands dates back 3,000 years. When the Greeks arrived in the eighth century BCE, the techniques they shared took things to the next level, and soon the local wines were renowned in the ancient world.

Sheep graze below the colourful buildings of Posada, Sardinia.
BELOW: Whimsical wall planters in Taormina, Sicily.

Due to its strategic geographical position, Sardinia was ruled by Phoenicians, Carthaginians, Romans, Arabians, Aragonese, Genovese and Pisans before joining Italy in 1726. Similarly, Sicily was variously ruled by the Carthaginians, Romans, Byzantines, Normans, Arabians, Spanish, Aragonese and Hohenstaufen before unifying with Italy in 1861. These myriad influences are still felt today in Sardinian and Sicilian architecture, cuisine and culture.

JERZU ANTICHI BANTU
CANNONAU DI SARDEGNA 2023
DOC, Sardinia, Italy

"Cannonau" is the Sardinian name for Grenache and is the island's signature red grape. This unoaked wine is juicy and ripe, with notes of blood orange, black pepper and licorice. Long, spicy finish.

The jaw-dropping Porto Flavia, Sardinia. RIGHT: Mount Etna's river of fire.

The interior of Sardinia is shaped by rugged mountain ranges, sweeping central massifs and dramatic limestone cliffs along with extinct volcanic formations dating back to the Miocene, Pliocene and Pleistocene epochs. Sicily, in addition to inland mountain ranges and fertile plains, also boasts Europe's largest active volcano. Mount Etna, standing 3,400 metres tall and covering nearly 1,200 square kilometres, is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Its volcanic soils support extensive agriculture, particularly orchards and vineyards.

REGIONS & GRAPES

Sardinia is home to 15 distinct wine regions. The majority of these are situated on the western side of the island, where the topography and soils support high-quality wine production. The island's signature red grape is Cannonau (Grenache), which is used throughout the island to make rich, fruit-forward wines. Carignano (Carignan) is the headliner of bold, intense wines from the windswept sands of the southwestern Sardinian appellation of Carignano del Sulcis. The island's signature white grape is Vermentino, which is known for its bright acidity and zesty fruit character.

LA CALA VERMENTINO DI SARDEGNA 2024

DOC, Sardinia, Italy
(Sella & Mosca)

This gorgeously fragrant wine is crafted from Vermentino, which is the signature white variety of Sardinia. It's zesty and subtly salty, with soaring notes of peach, papaya, ripe pineapple and lemon.

Sicily has its vineyards concentrated in three valleys: Val di Mazara in the west, whose mountainous uplands gradually give way to sloping shorelines; Val Demone in the northeast, with its coastal hills, Aeolian Islands and iconic Mount Etna; and Val di Noto in the southeast, criss-crossed by rivers and characterized by limestone soils. Sicily cultivates over 65 indigenous grape varieties along with several international ones. Signature red grapes include rich, chocolaty Nero d'Avola; elegant, expressive Nerello Mascalese; and light, fruity Frappato. Signature white grapes include the fragrantly floral Grillo and Inzolia, vibrantly fruity Catarratto, and eloquently expressive Carricante.

Mount Stromboli, Sicily, is one of the four active volcanoes in Italy.

THE TRANS- CANADA VINEWAY

British Columbia, Ontario and Nova Scotia:
These places are home to the most important wine regions in Canada. The premium focus, quality, and absolute deliciousness of the wines they're producing have created a point of national pride.

Keeping a close eye on the vines at Quails' Gate,
British Columbia.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

British Columbia's Okanagan Valley leads the province's wine industry. The region's first winery opened in 1932, and today more than 200 operate throughout the valley. Growing conditions span the spectrum from the mild shores of the Okanagan Lake to the dryness of the Osoyoos Desert, allowing for wines with significant regional distinction. The Okanagan Valley's various microclimates support more than 60 varieties, with Pinot Gris, Riesling, Chardonnay, Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon, Pinot Noir and Syrah being among the region's most successful.

ONTARIO

Ontario's principal wine regions are Niagara Peninsula and Prince Edward County, though the province has many emerging regions such as Georgian Bay, Huron County and areas near Ottawa that are developing rich viticultural traditions of their own. Niagara and PEC are heavily influenced by the Great Lakes and by the ancient limestone character of their soils.

ONTARIO (CONT.)

Niagara's soils and topography are highly diverse, allowing for a wide range of varieties to flourish including Sauvignon Blanc, Gewürztraminer, Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot, but the main grapes are Chardonnay, Riesling, Pinot Noir, Cabernet Franc and, increasingly, Gamay. Prince Edward County is prime Chardonnay and Pinot Noir country.

NOVA SCOTIA

All of Nova Scotia's vineyards fall within 20 kilometres of the Atlantic Ocean, and this proximity plays a huge role in determining what grapes can be grown here and in defining the character of the wines made. The cold, volatile weather has seen Nova Scotia's winemakers focus on cool-climate grapes such as Chardonnay and Pinot Noir as well as a number of winter-hardy hybrids like L'Acadie Blanc, Seyval Blanc, Lucie Kuhlmann and New York Muscat, which form the backbone of this region's aromatic, fresh, characterful white wines. The extreme cool-climate conditions are ideal for premium sparkling wines, which require high levels of natural acidity.

Legacy system

Compañía Vinícola del Norte de España (CVNE), founded in 1879, makes top-quality wines while pursuing the highest standards of sustainability.

Siblings and CVNE co-owners Victor and María Urrutia. BELOW, LEFT: The Roman numerals translate to 1879.

LCBO SPIRIT OF SUSTAINABILITY

At LCBO, we're focused on building a more sustainable future through our Spirit of Sustainability initiative, which celebrates trade partners who work to promote diversity and inclusion, community investment and sound environmental practices. Learn more at LCBO.com/sustainability.

CVNE has been run by the same family for five generations and is an industry leader in Spain, operating eight wineries spread among Spain's principal growing regions. One might suspect that the adjustments required to adapt to climate change and pursue sustainable viticulture would be difficult for such an established organization, but David Piera, export area manager at CVNE, insists that the opposite is the case.

"It's part of our culture," says Piera. "It's a natural way of evolving for this family, in its fifth generation, as they've always been working towards quality. When you work with quality products, the most important thing is the raw materials: the grapes, and the way you treat your vineyards and your soils."

In 2024, CVNE became the first Rioja winery to achieve gold member status at International Wineries for Climate Action (IWCA). This internationally recognized organization audits member wineries annually to ensure that they are consistently reducing carbon emissions in line with the United Nations Race to Zero Campaign, with the ultimate goal of net zero emissions by 2050. CVNE also achieved gold in 2025 and is on track for 2026.

The sustainability measures that got them here include lighter-weight bottles, recycled-cardboard packaging, and the installation of biomass boilers at several of their wineries. These boilers replace fossil fuel consumption with energy produced from forest waste and, alongside the installation of solar panels, mean that 35.97% of all CVNE's energy comes from onsite renewable sources.

It's all about building on the CVNE legacy. "This wine group has had 150 years of history," says Piera, "and we expect another 150. We are doing this because we couldn't do it any other way."

CUNE BLANCO 2025

CABERNET FRANC 2023 🍁

VQA Niagara Peninsula

... Winemaker and French-native Jean-Pierre Colas "gets" Cabernet Franc in this style, and I think the 2023 vintage that was just recently released is their best yet. This is a plush, juicy, Loire-inspired Cabernet Franc. Classic, fruit-forward with just the right amount of soft herbal undertones (basil, tarragon) peeking through the fleshy berried fruits. Delicately spiced on the palate, it is lively, approachable, with velvety tannins, with superb concentration and length at this price point. This ticks all the boxes for me. FLAT ROCK RED TWISTED 2023 🍁

VQA Niagara Peninsula

... single-vineyard Wismer sourced Cabernet Franc (60%) with single-vineyard Merlot (40%) from a parcel 500 meters away from the Flat Rock winery. The components were vinified separately, brought together and aged in a combination of French and American oak. It has a rich and savoury nose of brambly raspberries, dark cherries, black currants, anise, toasty vanilla and spices. With the ripe tannins on the palate adding structure, the melange of savoury red and dark berries shines through in spades, with a lovely splash of herbs [and] spices on a vibrant finish. THE SMITH & SMITH GAMAY 2023 🍁

VQA Short Hills Bench,

Niagara Escarpment, sustainable

This typically pale gamay is a fusion of oak flavours and ripe red fruit – plush red berries, dark cherries, and plums on the one hand and vanilla bean, nutmeg, cinnamon, on the other. In balance and flavourful, the medium-bodied palate shows supple tannins and lively acidity. Fresh red fruit and delicate herbal notes intermingle on the finish. Harmonious and colourful, this gamay is best enjoyed over the next 2-3 years. Tasted July 2025. Score: 91 (Megha Jandhyala, winealign.com)

VENETO

BRIGALDARA SOAVE 2024

DOC, sustainable

As in every vintage, this a terrific expression of Soave, with all its quirks and surprises. It is a quite full-bodied and richly flavoured rendition with big aromas of pineapple, honeysuckle, tea, straw and the region's waxy/flinty volcanic note. Very good flavour intensity, acidity and energy here. Quite lemony on the finish, the length is excellent. Tasted July 2025. Score: 92 (David Lawrason, winealign.com)

VENEZIE

TEDESCHI PINOT GRIGIO DELLE VENEZIE 2025

DOC

For 400 years, the Tedeschi family has been crafting wines based on the Valpolicella blend. A recent foray into other signature grapes of the Venezie region has proven quite fruitful, as evidenced by this brisk, easy-drinking Pinot Grigio offering aromas of lemon zest, cantaloupe, and crushed stone.

RÉVA NEBBIOLO D'ALBA 2023

DOC Langhe

Here's a lovely varietal Nebbiolo from its home in Langhe. The wine is crafted in stainless steel and then rested for four months in Austrian oak. It opens with gorgeous aromas of cherry, rose hip and subtle graphite. The palate is tightly woven, with good brightness and intensity. Drink now through 2035.

Only the best

BENGUELA COVE COLLAGE ESTATE RED 2022

WO Walker Bay, South Africa

Benguela Cove assembles Cabernet Sauvignon, Petit Verdot, Malbec, Merlot and Cabernet Franc from their best-performing vineyard sites to create the harmonious, Bordeaux-inspired Collage. The dark fruit, tea, baking chocolate and graphite go together beautifully. This rich, silky wine is a tasty New World celebration of Old World style.
