ENTRE RESTANQUES ET GARRIGUES CAIRANNE 2023

AOP, Rhône, France
(François-Xavier Nicolas Père & Fils)

15449 (XD) 750 ml $23.95 🍷

50% Grenache, 20% Syrah, 20% Mourvedre.
Plush and expansive, bathed in juicy strawberries and garrigue with a lick of limestone minerals in the acidity and a velvety warmth to the tannins. Score: 96
(Decanter World Wine Awards, 2025)

Full-bodied & Smooth

ZEPHYR SAUVIGNON BLANC 2025

Marlborough, South Island, New Zealand, sustainable, vegan

17568 (XD) 750 ml $21.95 🍷

A restrained, subtle aroma with smoke, wet-stone and then some green herb and pea-pod notes. The flavours are of pear, green apple and passionfruit and there's a chalky mineral edge. The acidity is marked and gives a very crisp, mouth-watering character. Drink date: 2025-2028. Score: 91 (Jane Skilton, MW,

A close-up photograph of a hand holding a tall, elegant glass of red wine. The glass is partially filled with a deep red liquid. To the right of the glass, a thick red book is visible, its pages slightly open. The background is softly blurred, showing a textured surface and a small, out-of-focus object. The overall mood is sophisticated and cozy.

Perfect Pairings for Book Lovers

Slowing down and savouring simple pleasures is the love language of both bookworms and oenophiles. That's why we and our friends at Indigo paired 17 wines with literary mood-matches. So get your book club together and open a fascinating bottle along with a fascinating dialogue. Or simply find a cozy corner and relax with a good book and a fine wine.

Romantic Fling

Love is in the air with these flirty, fun, delightfully sensuous wines that are begging to be enjoyed with a spicy, slow-sip romance.

CARMEL PALWIN NO. 10 KPM

Galilee, Israel

Produced in Shoham. Carmel was founded in 1882 and has been producing this fine sweet red wine since 1898. It sees no added sugar or water, gaining its luscious, sweet character from the natural high sugar content of the concentrated juice. Look for notes of ripe cherry and spiced plum and pair with flourless chocolate cake or chocolate-dipped coconut macaroons for a decadent dessert.

Good for business

Right from the start, Lubanzi's business model has been about giving back, with 50% of profits directed toward the farming community.

A wandering dog called Lubanzi by locals was the inspiration for the winery's name.

LCBO SPIRIT OF SUSTAINABILITY

At LCBO, we're focused on building a more sustainable future through our Spirit of Sustainability initiative, which celebrates trade partners who work to promote diversity and inclusion, community investment and sound environmental practices. Learn more at LCBO.com/sustainability.

You'd be hard pressed to find a winery with a more idealistic origin story. Two American exchange students, Charlie Brain and Walker Brown, fell in love with South Africa while hiking the Wild Coast. In 2016 they put down roots in the country, determined to express South Africa's vibrancy by launching a winery with social and environmental responsibility built into its foundations.

Their friend Josh Stanley, a South African, joined in 2021 as export director. He's watched the business grow, and in the process, contribute nearly $600,000 to charitable causes. Many of those are environmental – Lubanzi is a Certified B Corporation, Fair for Life Fair Trade Certified, and a member of 1% for the Planet, the Change Climate Project, and Organic Wines South Africa – but the lion's share of Lubanzi's donations goes to the low-income families who live and work on South Africa's wine farms.

"The unsexy side of sustainability is the social side," says Stanley. "A lot of people avoid it as a focus, but it is our main focus ... It was embedded in the structure of the business from the beginning." A whopping 50% of Lubanzi's net profits goes to the Pebbles Project: a non-profit that provides aid to children and young adults in agricultural communities across the Western Cape.

"There's a lot of rural communities that don't have access to education, health, nutrition," says Stanley. "This project recognized that if you want to break these cycles of poverty and actually create an impact you have to do it in a very holistic way." In addition to their essential health, nutrition and education services, the Pebbles Project offers a range of programs tailored to each key life stage.

Seeing business as a solution to social problems rather than existing outside of them is a refreshing, revolutionary concept. And when philanthropy is embedded in your business model, your actions go so much further than individual giving ever could. "Because of the scale of 50%," says Stanley, "it brings in everyone in that chain. Your importers, your distributors, the people on your sales floor, your consumer ... even the smallest players are having an impact." So the next time you enjoy one of Lubanzi's delicious wines, know that you're a part of something good.

LUBANZI CINSAULT 2024

WO Swartland, South Africa, sustainable

"We see Cinsault as the Pinot Noir of the Swartland. It's our low-tannin, chillable red wine. It leans into the berry notes, with strawberry and cherry. It's 13.5% alcohol, so you do still feel the structure to it. This, I love with smash burgers – something with a little bit of fat – or a rich mushroom dish." Josh Stanley

Gamayzing

I always look forward to the new Gamay release from Hidden Bench, and I'm not the only one; this wine has been a regular fixture on Vintages shelves for the past five years. The 2024 has notes of blackberry and boysenberry at peak ripeness, along with tones of violet, white pepper, cherry, mineral and earth. I can't wait to serve it, slightly chilled, with some saucy barbecued ribs.

This was barrel fermented and aged in 100% French puncheons with eight different yeast strains for 12 months. It also was aged on its fine lees in barrel. It has an elegant and poised nose of pure golden apples, pear, apricot tart, wet stones and saline minerality, lifted citrus zest and integrated spice notes. It has lovely silky texture, a melange of orchard fruits, juicy apricot, flint and saline minerality, fresh-squeezed lemon, and a pinch of spice on a luxurious, long and lifted finish. Lovely County Chardonnay with a bright future ahead. Score: 93 (winesinniaagara.com, Aug. 19, 2025)

CAMPANIA

VESEVO FALANGHINA 2025 IGP Campania

... lifted and aromatic, with white nectarine, dried white blossom, tangerine zest, and a cool saline minerality from the volcanic soils. The palate is crisp and fresh, with lemon curd, green apple, a thread of crushed chalk, and a long, zesty finish with bright, food-friendly acidity ... Food pairings: pan-fried freshwater fish, steamed clams and mussels hotpot, crab cakes. Drink date: 2026-2028. Score: 90 (nataliemaclean.com, undated)

ITALY – RED WINE

ABRUZZO

TORRE ZAMBRA MADIA MONTEPULCIANO D'ABRUZZO 2024 DOC, sustainable

(Famiglia de Cerchio)
A nose of blackberries, black cherries, top soil, crushed rocks and pepper transitions smoothly into a palate that opens with tart blackberries and bergamot, before those savory elements of crushed rocks, earth, herbs and pepper take over. Firm, dense tannins stand alongside a river of acid that flows through the finish. Score: 91 (Danielle Callegari, Wine Enthusiast, Aug. 1, 2025)

PIEDMONT

DOCG

Barbaresco is made from Piedmont's signature grape, Nebbiolo, which is the same variety used to make Barolo. From the record-breakingly hot and dry 2022 vintage, this wine comes from a winemaking family with over 140 years in the biz and showcases pressed rose petals, smoked nutmeg, leather and sun-dried plums. Savour now through 2032 with grilled steaks or roast meats.

SICILY

DUCA DI SALAPARUTA LAVICO ETNA ROSSO 2022

DOC

Earthy and clayey aromas introduce some red fruit scents, then a vertical and poised palate of spicy raspberry and strawberry. Light on its feet and with appealing texture and bright acidity, this is a delicious wine to enjoy with or without food. 100% Nerello Mascalese from Etna's north slope aged partially in concrete and partially in French oak for 12 months. Drinking window: 2024-2028. Score: 91 (James Button, decanter.com, Sept. 11, 2024)

SPAIN – RED WINE

LA MALDITA GARNACHA 2024

DOCa Rioja

(Vivanco)

The very young and harmonious red 2024 Garnacha is primary and fruit-driven and reveals contained ripeness and a juicy palate with varietal aromas and flavors, red berries and flowers, soft and velvety, with some herbal flavors in the finish and almost imperceptible tannins. As with the white, only a fraction of the volume matured in barrel for a couple of months. It's approachable and fresh. It was bottled in January 2025. Drink date: 2025-2029. Score: 91 (Luis Gutiérrez, robertparker.com, Feb. 27, 2025)

STANDOUT SELECTIONS

Ontario is one of the few places in the world whose climate permits Cabernet Franc to achieve the perfect balance of ripeness and freshness. This allows our winemakers to make 100% Cabernet Franc wines rather than using it only for blends. Marynissen's perfumed 2023 and 13th Street's bright, complex 2025 rosé demonstrate the grape's exciting versatility and depth in Ontario. And this tantalizing wine from Cooper's Hawk showcases Ontario's terroir through one of the world's most authentic lenses: Riesling.

STYLE SPOTLIGHT

Chardonnay is responsible for the great white wines of Burgundy, but it's truly a global phenomenon grown virtually everywhere wine is made. Ontario's soaring reputation as a fine-wine region is based in no small part on the exquisite Chardonnay produced in our cool-climate growing areas such as Niagara Peninsula and Prince Edward County.

Elevated Mendoza Cabernet

TAPIZ ALTA COLLECTION
SAN PABLO VINEYARD
CABERNET SAUVIGNON 2023

Valle de Uco, Mendoza, sustainable

At 1,400 metres above sea level, Tapiz's vineyards are among the highest in Mendoza. Their Alta Collection celebrates the complexity and balance that altitude can bring. This 2023 is elegant and sleek, with notes of blackcurrant, dark fruit, and Szechuan pepper. An elevated match for burgers.
